When Judge Poor opened court last Tuesday afternoon a few interested spectators had gathered to listen to a charge against John Terrill, a barber employed by Charles Murphy, but all in vain for the complainant, a young colored man who gave his name as Artemus Bolt, did not show up, and the case was dismissed. The trouble was caused by the alleged refusal of Terrill to cut Bolt's hair. There were several men awaiting their turn and two customers in the chairs at the time of his entrance.
These men were ready to testify that Bolt wanted to know if he could have his hair cut right away. Terrill answered in the negative and Bolt left and secured a warrant on the ground that he was discriminated against on account of his color. Friends informed him later that he could not secure evidence enough and so he decided to let the case drop. Bolt subsequently went to Mr.
Eastman's barber shop with a like demand but concluded to wait his turn when he was accommodated.

trial which was held in Boston, the prosecutor being Rocco Biel, an Italian vender of Lawrence, vs. the Boston & Northern street railroad company. Biel but was not killed. At the close of the Crackers and cheese, if you please, but let the crackers be "Triscuit," the electric baked biscuit. Ask Grocers.

At the meeting of the Congregational church held last Thursday evening, Rev. Edwin Smith and Herbert Clark were appointed delegates to a council to ordain the Rev. William R. Arnold and Rev. John X. Miller at the Andover Theological Seminary, Monday, June 8.

The Bradlee Moehrs' club held a very successful gentlemen's night at Bradlee hall, last Tuesday evening. About 80 of the members and friends were present. The hall was very tastefully decorated with flags, ferns and potted plants. Shortly after eight o'clock the president, Miss Florence Prevost, in a few well chosen words in behalf of the club extended a hearty welcome to all present and announced the following very entertaining and instructive program: Piano duet, Miss Grace A. Haynes and Joseph Stott; address by John Alden of Andover, subject, "Coal"; recitation, Joseph T. Lovejoy; piano duet, Miss Grace A. Haynes and Joseph Stott. Mr. Alden spoke about an hour and handled his subject, "Coal," in a very interesting manner. During his address he showed samples of the several products of coal and described the processes of their manufacture. He spoke for considerable length on the art of dyeing samples, which he minutely described. At the close of the address he dyed a number of pieces and invited all to come forward to the table and examine his several samples. Ice cream and cake were served and a good social hour followed. The cake was made by pupils of the cooking school from Grades VIII and IX and showed one of the progressive and up-to-date features of our public schools. The success of the meeting was largely due to the untiring efforts of the following efficient Hospitality committee: Miss Florence Prevost, Miss Mary E. Scott, Mrs. J. W. Stark, Mrs. Charles E. Davies.

Give the children a chance—let them have "Triscuit," the electric baked biscuit. Greatest cracker achievement. Ask Grocers.

Let the school children have "Triscuit," the electric baked biscuit, and avoid that deathly, anaemic look. Ask Grocers.

WOMAN'S CLUB ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Lawrence-Woman's club was held at the house of Miss Payne yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There was a good attendance. First came the report of the clerk, Mrs. C. H. Herck, who gave a brief resume of the work of the past year. Among its items were the following of public interest: Aid sent to the textile school in the South, founded by the Massachusetts Federation; contribution of books to the Longfellow Room of the local grammar school; and an effort toward better conditions in the parks and streets of the city.

The report of the corresponding secretary came next, followed by the treasurer's report. The expenses were slightly in excess of the income, but there had been several unusual items, such as the luncheon on the tenth anniversary, G. Stanley Hall's lecture, and one or two others unusually expensive.

Reports from the different classes were given. The expenses were slightly in excess of the income, but there had been several unusual items, such as the luncheon on the tenth anniversary, G. Stanley Hall's lecture, and one or two others unusually expensive.

The new committee, that of Social Service, reported that a great deal of work was being done by the Women's Auxiliary to the Mass. Civil Service Reform league. One important achievement was the arrangement of a luncheon of the history of Civil Service reform.

The matter of a club house came up, but as no great enthusiasm was manifested, it was dropped for the present.

The address of the president, Mrs. Geo. C. Howard, was given. Among the good works accomplished or attempted by women's clubs, are the preservation of such monuments as the habitations of the cliff-dwellers, and the Palisades of the Hudson river. She closed with an injunction to be faithful and loyal to one's club.

The nominating committee then presented their report, and the secretary was authorized to cast one ballot for the following officers for 1903-1904:

President, Miss Caroline M. Sweet; president, Miss Mary L. Saunders; clerk, Mrs. Charles C. Herck; corresponding secretary, Mrs. T. M. Cogswell; treasurer, Mrs. H. Leslie Sherman; directors for three years, Mrs. W. T. McAlpine, Mrs. W. R. Rowe; directors for two years, Mrs. Wm. H. Cummings, Mrs. E. A. Fiske; directors for one year, Miss Ellen Payne, Mrs. Charles R. Stanley; auditor, Mrs. A. R. Sanborn.

The thanks of the club were tendered to the retiring officers. Mrs. Howard briefly responded, expressing her gratitude for the honor and the happy spirit prevalent among the members.

She then presented the gavel to the newly-elected president, Miss Sweet, who accepted it with a few well-chosen words. The regret of the Art club that Mrs. Brewster could not be their leader another year was voiced.

Mrs. Howard was voted. Mrs. Howard was asked if the club would not become a sustaining member of the Ladies' Union Charitable society, and it was voted.

The minutes of the meeting were read and accepted, after which the club adjourned for the summer.

Mrs. Howard spoke as follows: Time pressing steadily onward brings us to our tenth annual meeting, with a full membership, interests and ambitions as keen and high as in our earlier days.

The increase in clubs and club women has been marvelous within the past ten years, and some restless, uneasy spirits we hear of who belong to ten or more clubs and who display medals galore, at great meetings. This is the same restless spirit that the old rhyme tells of: "That worrying old woman of Salem, who was morn, noon, and night in a hurry."

Still even this is better than the women of fifty years ago who at the age of fifty put on cap and retired to the chimney corner. Not long ago I read in the correspondence column of a well known paper the description of a birthday party a young woman had arranged to celebrate the fiftieth birthday of her mother: A number of equally old ladies were invited, an old fashioned supper, rag mats and patchwork quilts figured in the story. This certainly was not a story of a club woman, either mother or daughter. Fifty years indeed!

At the large club meetings the brilliant speakers, the handsomely dressed, well groomed women are not the younger ones by any means, and club life has broadened the outlook of woman's life, increased her usefulness and added to her labors. In fact, one criticism of Women's club work is, they undertake too many things, try to change the order of the world, and the result is that they are forced upon them, the school life, hygienic sanitary conditions appeal to the mothers, the beautifying and purifying of the cities in more large clubs these are the reforms urged.

One question, not by club women but by conservative people who do not come in touch with club life is, what are women's clubs good for anyway? What do they do? As an answer look over the work and results of the past year. Perhaps the greatest good accomplished is the work of the General Federation, the restriction on the evils of child labor, particularly in the South. The Mass. Federation has established a textile school in Georgia. We feel an added interest in this as we were contributors.

The Colorado Federation has saved the remains of the cliff dwellers. The New Jersey Federation are working for the preservation of the Palisades.

Miss Margaret Chanler has a most stirring account of the splendid civic work done by the Women's Municipal League of New York City, and Dr. Lederle of the board of health of New York city asks for the co-operation of the Women's clubs.

He says women are more interested, more painstaking, and more economical than men. I think the latest philanthropic area for Women's clubs is to beautify the city by window boxes on the dwellings. Those who have visited London say the dull gray houses and smoky atmosphere are illumined by the gay colors of the flowers growing in riotous confusion in the window boxes.

The Roxbury club of Boston has taken this matter in hand, and are beautifying the streets in like manner. It is a beautiful thought and adds much to individual pleasure, besides the municipal beautification of the city.

Women's clubs are to beautify the city by window boxes on the dwellings. Those who have visited London say the dull gray houses and smoky atmosphere are illumined by the gay colors of the flowers growing in riotous confusion in the window boxes.

change of directors, the rotation of clubs is of importance—it gives each member the opportunity on the board, and keeps the individual interest alive. The prophecy for the next fifty years is not startling but the natural evolution of the present progress.

Carrie Chapman Catt, the noted suffragist thinks the Women's club of today will have departed, having fulfilled its mission,—political organizations taking its place where life problems will be discussed. That remains to be seen. Certainly there will be growth, and we hope in the right direction. The foreign clubs lead us in numbers, the Empress club of London having 5000 members, a beautiful resplendent new tea room, where one correspondent says the members have the conscious air of "I am taking tea at my club," the Jack Horner manner, as she says. The Berlin Woman's club is also tremendous in members, adding a smoking room to its dining room. We hear little of the working departments of these clubs—the social side predominates. The American club women must have some philanthropic idea, must help some one, must encourage the spirit of work, the betterment of one's self and one's fellow creatures. We should be proud of the idea, we should demonstrate that we are a power of good to our community and to a successful enthusiastic club there is no limit to its usefulness. Seventy women can do anything.

The conditions in our own city are not favorable to our municipal aid, still we can help, perhaps in a small degree. It is in the finding of the work and the doing of it that the welfare of the man or institution lies. The best advice to clubs is, try to cultivate a willing spirit, be loyal to your club, be helpful to its interests.

Mr. Joseph Pomerville, of Stillwater, Minn., after having spent over $2,000 with best doctors for stomach trouble, without relief, was advised by his druggist, Mr. Alex. Richard, to try a box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. He did so, and is a well man today. If troubled with indigestion, bad taste in the mouth, lack of appetite or constipation, give these Tablets a trial, and you are certain to be more than pleased with the result. THE ROOT OF ALLEEVIL

Is not money, but disease, and the root of all disease is a run-down condition.

Dr. Parker's Tonic Tablets go to the root of the trouble by building you up from the inside nerves to the outside skin.

A run-down condition, an emaciated body, a worn-out digestion, shattered nerves, sleepless nights, aching limbs and head and back, loss of appetite—these are the symptoms of a debilitated condition, and if not corrected in time will surely result in something very serious, for disease is health disregarded. Dr. Parker's Tonic Tablets is a package containing two valuable medicines. Dr. Parker's Liveroid Tablets and Dr. Parker's Tonic Tablets. The Liveroid Tablets stimulate and purify the liver and bowels and cleanse them of any stagnant accumulations. They prepare the system for the Tonic Tablets. The Tonic Tablets make the blood rich and pure, and thus drive away anemia, pale and sallow skin, boils, pimples and other humors. They strengthen and nourish the nerves, and speed the nervous system to the vital organs. They give an appetite for food, and a good digestion, so that the food nourishes. They make new blood, new tissue, new force. Thus the whole body is built up, renewed. The weight goes up, the glow of health returns, the brain becomes clear. Health, perfect health, waits on you in this product of the 20th century.

Put up in boxes of 50 Tonic Tablets and 6 Liveroid Tablets, at 50c. a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all druggists, or The Dr. Parker Medicine Co., 51-53 Exchange St., Portland, Maine, U. S. A.

LAWRENCE

ENGLISH SOCIAL CLUB ANNIVER-SARY.

On Saturday evening and the evening previous the members of the English Social and Mutual Improvement club of this city observed in a manner most appropriate to the occasion, the third anniversary of their inception as an organization. The event in every particular was the grandest that has ever been held in the history of the club and the handsome and spacious home of the society on Centre street was a scene of happy merrymaking for old and young on both nights. For on Friday evening all was given over to the enjoyment of dancing and a grand ball was held which was largely attended by the members of the club together with their wives and children and lady friends.

From early dawn and during the entire day the bright beams from the stars and stripes, floating from the staff over the club house greeted all comers on Saturday. The close of the day saw gathered there the many members of the club and their guests on the occasion of the grand banquet which was partaken of early in the evening and which was followed by a most excellent concert.

The feasting was long and was satisfying to every one who gathered about the festive board. Supper was served by a corps of the ladies of the members of the club who were assisted by gentlemen members. When the hunger of all was appeased an adjournment was made to the large hall in the building where at 7:30 o'clock all present had the pleasure of listening to the fine address made by the Honorable Archie N. Frost who is himself a member of the club.

Senator Frost was introduced by the president of the organization Mr. Albert Douglas who made a short address of welcome. In his brief remarks he made mention of the circumstances of the starting of the club and was very proud to be able to welcome the ladies and gentlemen present to its third anniversary. He thanked in glowing terms the members of the committee on arrangements who have spared neither time nor money in their endeavors to make it a great success. He also thanked the ladies for their interest and co-operation in regard to their recent costume ball from which was reaped great profits. He assured them that their work was highly appreciated. His remarks were greeted with applause.

He introduced the speaker of the evening, Senator Frost as a member of the club and as one of the best speakers in the city of Lawrence. Mr. Frost greeted his audience with, "Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen, friends and fellow members of the English Social Club." He expressed himself as feeling glad to accept the invitation to address the members of the club on the 3rd anniversary. He wished to point out before going into the history of the club the fact that the observance comes closely upon the birthday of one of the most beautiful examples of a noble character that England has ever produced. "The late Queen Victoria." Great applause.

He spoke of the idea of such an organization as having its origin primarily in the minds of a few men from the "Realm Across the Sea," who realizing the bonds that connected such people banded together, six in number originally, recognizing the social and mutual improvement to be gained from such a union. It was a small beginning. The first meeting of the organization was held on June 14th, 1899, in the Chapter house of the St. Thomas church. There were six men in all who attended this meeting. A discussion of such a club among the English people took place. He contrasted this first meeting with the gathering before him.
The second meeting was held on July 11th, about a month after and the first officers were elected. They were: Robert Bower, president; David Bailey, vice president; Samuel Winpenny, treasurer, and Walter Baldwin, clerk.
On August 8th another meeting was held in Spinnakers hall when the membership was noticeably increased and Thomas Mack was chosen an officer.
On November 1st of the same year after practically about three months the membership of the club had increased to 252. The opportunity for meetings often but on February 21st, 1900 a meeting was held in St. George's hall and at another in March the project was started and land purchased on Centre street where since has been erected the present building.
He thought that his listeners ought to feel grateful to the organizers for the forefront. On August 2nd bids were called for and the contracts let for the erection of the present building. On January 8th, 1901, the English Social club secured its charter, signed by the officials of the commonwealth and it then took its place and now figures prominently among similar organizations in the city with a membership which is today only two less than 400.
This one fact alone goes to show how deep the builders worked. Congratulations are to be offered for its steady growth and great success.

Another fact which is prominent, these is held by the club 1200 square feet of land and real estate to the value of $1,600, which at the present time is worth a great deal more. He remarked that this club with such prospects ranks with any club in the city of Lawrence. He said that all knew of the object denoted by the name and as fraternity that it aids intellectual life; that the club is an acme of good fellowship which is secured by the meeting together at social times with a benefit socially, morally and intellectually.

One great particular feature, he said which struck forcibly in the course of which the club exists. He remarked that it was not a political club but that the members were gathered together for the purpose of individual advancement and for the advancement of the whole body, an inducement which is held out to American citizenship. "The highest privilege that is offered is to become loyal and true American citizens. It recognizes that its object is to advance the best principles of American citizenship.

In completing his address he spoke of public life and said that, "Evil will exist just as long as evil men will continue to be in public life." He proudly remarked that it was the aim of these of the club to send men of integrity into public life. At the close he received the unstinted applause of his audience.

Immediately following the address came the first number on the concert program by the Loreley Quartette of Haverhill which in their selections whether together or as soloists received the attention and appreciation of their hearers. "Mr. William Foster of Lowell in his bass solo numbers was generously applauded for his fine performance.
A reader Miss Wilhelmina Katherine Dresser is in command of the art and carried her audience with her. In his tenor selections Mr. Cyrus Robertshaw appeared noticeably as his listeners.
Mr. Charles E. Naylor the well known musician acted as the accompanist to the artists. By his excellency in accomplishment and the mastery of the violin which was clearly shown in every one of his numbers Mr. F. C. Record captured the palm of the evening. He certainly is a favorite wherever he goes and his talent is recognized. In responding to an encore by special request he rendered most beautifully his own variations to the old and favorite tune, "The old oaken bucket."

Specially for the occasion the large hall at the club house was beautifully decorated, with streamers of color and plants of different kinds. On the stage were arranged potted ferns, palms and rubber plants from the greenhouses of Alfred H. Wagland on Broadway. The material for the decorations came from Reid and Hughes. The colors used were of lavender and white nicely arranged in touch with appointments of the hall. Large baskets of artificial flowers were suspended with effect from the ceiling. At the top of the front and immediately over the centre of the stage was hung in conspicuous relief the bright golden coat of arms of the British Empire in metal. This was placed beneath a large American flag which was flanked with smaller British ensigne. Other arrangements were introduced into the decorations with effect.

It might be well said that the appreciation expressed by the members of the club in regard to the efforts of their committees in their endeavor to make this anniversary the greatest success was decidedly marked and not in the least undeserved so.

GEORGETOWN 8; ANDOVER 1.
The veteran Georgetown University team was too much for Phillips Andover, Friday afternoon, and won by a score of 8 to 1. Andover, however made a plucky fight. Baker pitched the first half for Andover, but was batted hard in the fifth, three timely hits netting three runs. Brown was substituted and held the visitors down to two hits and one run. Georgetown's fielding was excellent while Andover did good work at critical times. The score:

Princeton defeated Phillips Andover 4 to 3 Wednesday afternoon and had hard throughout it was a contest worth see-

The Flag Goes By.

Hats off:
Along the street there comes
A band of bugles, a rattle of drums, A flash of color beneath the sky;
Hats off!

The flag is passing by!

Blue and crimson and white it shines, Over the steel-tipped, ordered lines.
Hats off!
The colors before us fly;
But more than the flag is passing by.

Sea fights and land fights, grim and great, Fought to make and to save the State; Wary marches and sinking ships; Cheers of victory on dying lips;

Days of plenty and days of peace; March of a strong land's swift increase;
Equal justice, right and law, Stately honor and reverend awe;

Sign of a Nation, great and strong,
To ward her people from foreign wrong;
Pride and glory and honor, all Live in the colors to stand or fall.

Hats off!
Along the street there comes
A band of bugles, a rattle of drums;
And loyal hearts are beating high;
Pride and glory and honor, all

The flag is passing by.
H. H. Bennett, in the Youth's Companion.

In the beautiful Doric hall, at the State House, are stands of flags which tell the story of Massachusetts in the rebellion as no other witnesses possibly could. Company after company passes in review as one reads the numbers that tell what band of brave fellows each flag, and the lessons of patriotism which have been taught by those silent witnesses can never be counted.

Tomorrow the old flag flies again all over our land "in memoriam". The men who follow it have feebler steps, and are fewer in numbers, but the drum still the same red blood of patriotism, as that which moved men to the front forty years ago.

This of the veterans, but what of the onlookers? Is the answering sympathy and interest just as deep and loyal, or is it true that there is really great need that the beautiful flag hall at the State House should bear signs ordering men to bare their heads as they pass through? We fear the answer is not pleasing, but if the awakening can come we may take new hope. If tomorrow means anything, it means taking a new hold upon the principles that controlled action in '61-'65, it means a new draught at the fountain of patriotism. May it mean nothing less to any of us than this.

Principal of Phillips.

Such is the title which has been bestowed by the trustees upon Mr. Alfred E. Stearns.

A year ago the Townsman took pleasure in announcing the appointment of Mr. Stearns to the position of vice-principal, and predicted that a year's trial would prove his eminent fitness for the full honor. The prediction has come true, to the satisfaction of the friends of Phillips on every hand. Mr. Stearns is no longer a stranger to Andover and there is no need for these columns to print again any extended review of the work which has brought him to his present prominent position.

He comes into the full position of successor to Dr. Bancroft and the long line of honorable men who preceded him, with a "Phillips" training and a "Phillips" enthusiasm that cannot fail to be a great factor in his work. Behind him is a complete training; supporting him is an enthusiastic alumni and a loyal body of active students; before him are great problems in the new lines of education, and large opportunity for Phillips Academy to do its share in working those problems out.

With such training, with such loyalty among alumni, with such enthusiasm on the part of students, the future glory of the famous school is safely left in the charge of its new principal. The future is bright for Andover hill, and all Andover rejoices, and congratulates not only the Academy and Mr. Stearns, but the whole community upon the new promise.

Editorial Cinders.

Next week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, our neighboring city of Lawrence celebrates the completion of fifty years as a city. An elaborate program is to be carried out, and hosts of visitors are expected to attend. Lawrence is not very old, but a just pride may well be taken in the accomplishments of her first half century. Her great growth has been centered around the big fall, and year by year the industries made possible by the great power of the Merrimack have increased and multiplied. The retrospect of the past fifty years is full of achievement; may the future hold in store still larger success.

The death of Rear Admiral David Smith takes away from Andover a life not intimately known, because the life work had been in larger fields, but one which had, nevertheless, brought large honor not only to the individual but to the town which he has in later years called his home. The story of the life is a constant reaching to higher honor in the Nation's service.

REAR ADMIRAL DEAD

David Smith, U. S. N., Succumbs to Heart Disease in Washington.

Won His High Position on Merit.

It was with great sorrow that the news of the sudden death of Admiral David Smith was received by John L. Smith, Wednesday afternoon, when he passed to the world beyond, at his home in Washington, D. C., at the age of 68. For the past few years Mr. Smith had been in failing health but was able to be around until a short time ago when he was so ill that he kept indoors.

As a summer visitor at the home of his brother, John L. Smith, on High street, Admiral Smith was widely known in Andover and his loss will be keenly felt here. As a man of noble character, high ideals and personal integrity, his services to the country which he had loved, has been of such an order that they will not soon be forgotten either here or in Washington, where he was well known.

Rear Admiral Smith was born in Brechin, Forfarshire, Scotland, in 1834, and came to this country when quite young. He graduated from Phillips Academy in 1854, and in 1858 graduated second in his class at the scientific school of Harvard University. At the outbreak of the Civil war he enlisted in the U. S. navy and was present at the bombardment of Fort Sumter. He then returned to Washington as an engineer officer and saw duty during April, May, and part of June, 1861, in protecting the Capitol city, guarding Alexandria, Va., and keeping the Potomac river free. In October, 1863, he reached the grade of first assistant engineer, passing first in the examination. During 1864 he saw some terrible fighting, being then an officer on board the Tallapoosa, blockading Tampa Bay, which forced the crew of the confederate ship, Stonewall Jackson, to desert her in Havana harbor. Subsequently, Mr. Smith served with the West Gulf squadron and was at New Orleans during the riots and epidemic of cholera and yellow fever in 1866. He was appointed assistant to the chief of the Bureau of Steam Engineering in April, 1866, and his work in this department won for him a reputation for scientific accuracy and practical value which contributed greatly in that field of activity.

Rear Admiral Smith was next assigned to special duty at the Washington Navy yard in May of 1875, where he was the first to inaugurate hot test, still in use and which proved very valuable, and for this he was appointed by President Grant a member of the United States steel board for testing steel, iron and other materials. He twice refused an appointment as professor of dynamite engineering in the University of Pennsylvania. In subsequent years, Mr. Smith saw much service in different parts of the country, and was also much in Washington on different duties, mostly pertaining to scientific questions affecting marine engineering. During the Spanish war, however, he resumed active service, and performed extensive inspection duty, but contracted grip at Elmira, N. Y., on duty and was compelled to resign.

In recognition of his efficient service a special act of Congress was passed in February of this year making Mr. Smith a rear admiral on the retired list. The news of his death came as a great blow to his brother, John L. Smith. Besides his brother, a wife and three daughters are left to mourn his loss. The funeral took place this afternoon and burial was in the National cemetery at Arlington Heights, Washington.

Lowell Lodge Entertained

In response to an invitation from Lincoln lodge, 78, A. O. U. W., about twenty five members of Lowell lodge, 22, visited their brother lodge, coming on a special electric last Monday night, and with about 100 members of the local lodge, a joyous evening was spent. A bountiful spread was served by Caterer Rhodes consisting of coffee, sandwiches, ice cream, cake, frozen pudding and other delicacies to which ample justice was done. After the refreshments, remarks were made by Master Workman Hill and Financialer Hodgkins of Lowell lodge and by Master Workman James Napier, Recorder E. E. Trefry and Past Master Edward Howard of the local lodge. A short entertainment was then given consisting of a piano solo by John Flint; vocal selection, Lincoln lodge quartette; song, Robert Thomas; piano solo, T. E. Rhodes; song, Daniel Hilton. The committee who had the successful and joyous evening in charge consisted of Thomas E. Rhodes, A. L. Whittemore, John Barrett, Daniel Webster and J. Wagner.

Girls' Club at Concord.

Twenty-three members of the Andover Girls' Club enjoyed a trip to Concord, Mass., last Saturday.

The day was cool and Concord, in spite of the dry weather, was green and attractive as ever.

The stir of the Emerson anniversary was in the air, and the school children who thronged around the famous graves in "Sleepy Hollow" and the "Minute Man" on the "Battle Field" made a stir peculiar to the evanescent spirits of childhood.

The Antiquarian Rooms with their interesting collection of Concord relics, and the Concord Reformatory filled out the program of the red letter day, which will not soon be forgotten by the members of the Sunshine and Juvenile departments of the A. G. C.

Pleasant Surprise Party.

The home of William Moir on North Main street was the scene of a very enjoyable surprise party last Friday evening, the gathering having been arranged in honor of Mr. Moir who will soon leave for Winnipeg, Minnesota, where he will be employed. There were about 50 in the party and William Fairlee, in a very neat speech, presented him in behalf of those present with $20. Mr. Moir responded, thanking them for their gift and for their kindness in remembering him. Songs were then rendered by Robert McAllister and Hugh Campbell, accompanied by William Black. William Fairlee then gave several graphophone selections. Refreshments were served, after which the party broke up in the "wee sma' coors of the mornin'."

Violin Recital.

The annual recital by Mrs. Willis Parmelee's violin pupils was given last Friday evening in the Free church vestry for the benefit of the Building Fund.

Of the many entertainments with which Mrs. Parmelee has favored Andover, none has done more credit to her instruction or excelled this in merit and popular favor. From the youngest child to the most advanced pupil, all acquitted themselves to the great interest of the large audience, and several of the performers, noticeably our own Andover artists, Miss Guthrie, the Misses Cox, Miss Eaton and Charles Otis, with the Misses Hodges, Miss Simpson of East Boston and Miss Spaulding of Newton Highlands won prolonged applause.

Specialty enjoyable were the opening march by sixteen players, the double quartette and the closing trio.

Pleasing variety was given to the entertainment by the vocal duets by Miss Mabel Carter and Mrs. C. W. Scott, which were delightfully sung and enthusiastically received.

Mothers' Club Meeting

A special meeting of the Andover Mothers' club was held in Puncbland hall Friday, May 22. The club entertained as its guests the Taylor Mothers' club, East Cambridge, Bradlee Mothers' club of Ballardvale and Indian Ridge Mothers' club of this town.

The meeting opened at 3.30 P. M. with the singing of the Mother's Hymn. Reverend Mr. Keely of Walpole, Mass., who on two previous occasions has addressed the club, was the speaker in the evening. He continued his subject, talking on "The Child in the Early Teens." His address was highly interesting throughout, containing many helpful and practical ideas, to enable the parent to cope with the characteristic traits developed during this period. He dwelt principally on embarrassment, self-consciousness, egotism, display of dress and others.

Mrs. F. H. Foster of Andover, sang several charming selections which delighted her audience.

A social time was then enjoyed, during which ice cream and cake were served, also allowing an opportunity for the members of the various clubs to meet each other.

There was a large attendance and from an educational and social standpoint the meeting was a decided success.

The refreshment committee in charge were: Mrs. Rhodes, Mrs. G. Holt, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Belknap, and Mrs. Moorehead.

ENDEAVOR CONVENTION

Denver Chosen for the 21st Biennial, July 9 to 13—Speeches from across the Sea.

Andover Christian Endeavorers will be pleased to learn of the convention which will be held in Denver, Col., July 9 to 13. This convention will be the Twenty-first International convention and many inducements are offered by the committee who have the affair in charge. The following will be of interest to those who are planning to attend:

Denver, the Queen City of the Plains, extends a most cordial invitation to Endeavorers everywhere, and their friends, to attend the Twenty-First International Christian Endeavor Convention to be held in Denver, July 9-13, 1903. The City Christian Endeavor Union, the Chamber of Commerce, the Commercial club, and the State Legislature are among the organizations that have said COME. Here is one sentence from the records of the General Assembly of Colorado: "Be it resolved by the Senate of the General Assembly of the State of Colorado, in extra session assembled, the House concurring, that invitation be extended to the National Christian Endeavor Society to make Denver the place of their convention to meet in July, 1903."

The Central Passenger association, Trunk Line association and New England Passenger association, including all the lines east of Chicago, have made a rate of one fare for the round trip to Chicago, to be used in connection with the $25 round-trip rate from Chicago to Denver. This makes the round trip to Denver less than half-fare. Return tickets are good until August 31.

Sleeping car rates will of course be additional, but with these very low rates a large attendance at Denver from all parts of the country is assured.

For the entertainment of convention delegates, provision will be made as far as possible in harmony with the preference of delegates. During the tourist season Denver hotels are crowded, and home entertainment for Christian Endeavor delegates will therefore necessarily predominate. All delegates are advised to communicate at once with their own local State Transportation managers. These transportation agents have been advised in detail with reference to the charges for entertainment, etc. Hotel accommodations will be $2.00 per day and up, American plan; $1.00 per day and up, European plan; and substantial home entertainment will be provided at the rate heretofore offered at the other conventions. The minimum charge will be for lodging and three meals, $1.25 per day; lodging and two meals, $1.00; lodging and one meal, 75 cents, and lodging only, 50 cents per day each person.

Questions regarding entertainment or hotel accommodations that cannot be answered by local State Transportation managers may be addressed to W. M.
Danner, 131 Arapahoe street, Denver.

The committee having the program in charge have assured the local committee that the program this year will be the best ever prepared for a Christian Endeavor convention. The ablest Christian Endeavor speakers, both home and foreign talent, will appear. A great treat is in store. More detailed information will be given in a later bulletin, but, just to stir up your enthusiasm, here are a few of the names: Dr. Francis E.
Clark, Rev. Ira Landrith, Dr. Hugh K.
Walker, Bishop B. W. Arnett, Rev. H. B.
Grose, Rev. Smith Baker, Dr. James M.
Gray, Rev. William Patterson, Prof.
Amos R. Wells, Rev. C. H. Tyndall, Dr.
W. F. Wilson, Rev. James A. Francis, Mrs. Francis E. Clark, Rev. Harlan P.
Beach, Rev. R. A. Torrey, Dr. Floyd W.
Tompkins.

Among the speakers from abroad will be Rev. R. J. Campbell, successor to Dr.
Joseph Parker, as pastor of the City Temple, London, England; Rev. F. J.
Horsford, England; Mr. E. J. Powell, Wales; Mr. C. Ogawa, Japan; Rev. W. M.
Upcraft, China.

Basket Ball.

The Punched Basket ball team defeated the Lowell Normal, Saturday afternoon by a score of 10 to 0. The Lowell team was entirely outplayed by the local girls. The Punched captain, Miss Moynihan, sprained her wrist badly in the first ten minutes of play but pluckily continued and practically won the game for her team, throwing three of the five goals made. The goals were difficult shots, not one being nearer than 10 feet and one was twice that distance.

For Punched, Miss Moynihan, Miss Logan, Miss Weeks—and Miss Rogers put up a first class game, and Miss Weeks and Miss Rogers although new promise to develop into very fast players. The first goal was made by Miss Florence Richardson, quickly followed by another by Miss Moynihan.
In the second third Miss Moynihan again scored and Miss Rogers followed her example, putting the game out of danger.

In the last part Miss Moynihan made the last goal, a shot of twenty feet, the ball passing through the basket without touching it.

For Lowell Miss Provencher, the captain played the best. The line was as follows:

Punched—Miss K. Moynihan, capt. f.; Miss F. Richardson, f.; Miss Flora Lindsay, l. c.; Miss L. Rogers, c.; Miss Ward, r. c.; Miss D. Logan, r. g.; Miss M. Weeks, l. g.; Lowell—Miss E. Provencher, capt. g.; Miss M. Taylor, g.; Miss M. Thurlow, l. c.; Miss M. Cassidy, Miss A. Lyons, r. c.; Miss J. Dunlavy, f.; Miss M. Styles, f.

After the game the teams and friends adjourned to Punched hall where a light lunch was served. Dancing was next in order until the young ladies from Lowell were obliged to leave. All thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Last Meeting of the Year.

Last Monday evening in the Free Church vestry, occurred the closing meeting of the Young Woman's club.
The program consisted of a number of songs of different nations and a play entitled "A Business Meeting." The scene of the business meeting was in the parlor of Mrs. Lowell's house and the young ladies acted out very cleverly the manner in which a woman's meeting might be held. The president of the Young Woman's club, Miss Florence Parker, had the entertainment in charge which proved to be very enjoyable to the large number of friends of the young ladies who attended. Following is the pro-

Sudden Death.

Last Monday evening at the home of Daniel Buckley, on Park street, occurred the sudden death of an old and well known character of Andover, in the person of Daniel Carney. Mr. Carney came to the Buckley home last Saturday from Lawrence, and had asked Mrs.
Buckley if he might remain there until Monday, saying that he wasn't feeling very well. He was allowed to stay and did not leave the house after that time.
Mr. Carney took his supper about 5 o'clock on Monday, and then retired to his room. Shortly after six a young son of Mr. Buckley's had occasion to pass through his room when he discovered the prostrate form of the deceased lying on the bed. Dr. Abbott was summoned and gave as his opinion that the cause of death was heart failure. Mr. Carney had complained of a pain in his side the probable cause of which was his falling down a flight of stairs in Lawrence recently. He was removed to Messer's undertaking rooms.

Besides a brother who lives in Charlestown, the deceased leaves a nephew James Carney of Lawrence. He was born in Ireland and was 63 years old.

The funeral took place Wednesday morning from St. Augustine's church, Rev. Fr. Driscoll officiating. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

At a session of the probate court held in Newburyport last Monday, inventory was filed on the estate of John P. Mc Kenzie, late of Andover, to the amount of $1846.

Last Monday afternoon Mrs. Mary Welch of Abbott Village, in descending from a car, fell and struck on the back of her head. She had been riding backwards from Lawrence and was probably very dizzy as the car was not in motion when the accident occurred. Dr. Torrey was called and attended her injuries which fortunately have not proved serious. Mrs. Welch received a severe shaking up, however.

The children of Mary's Sodality and the Knights of Our Lady of Good Counsel will hold their May celebration at St.
Augustine's church at 3.30 next Sunday afternoon. Rev. Fr. Cullinane of Lawrence, a former Andover boy, will preach the sermon. The pastor, Rev. Charles Driscoll will preside during the services.
The program is as follows: The member of the societies will meet in the basement chapel and march in procession to the church proper. The children of Mary will sing the office hymns to the Blessed Virgin. Then the members will receive their distinctive badges from Fr. Driscoll after which acts of consecration will be read by a representative of both societies. The services will close with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The musical portion is under the direction of Miss Donovan, the church organist.

MISS EASTON'S ORGAN RECITAL.

Before a large and appreciative audience Miss Easton gave an organ recital in Trinity church Monday night. Miss Easton's recital this year excelled all previous ones. Throughout the entire program the audience sat enraptured, not losing interest in any one selection.
Miss Easton rendered finely as an opening selection, one of Bach's "Fugues," which was an excellent introduction of the rare musical treat that followed. At the completion of the recital Miss Easton was greeted with enthusiastic applause, as in each successive number.

Miss Alice Hayes, who assisted with contralto solos, though a stranger in Lawrence, being a vocal instructor from Haverhill, soon won her way into the hearts of her audience and was obliged to respond to an encore.

One of the most delightful numbers on the program was that of Miss Helen Farrell. The popularity of the charming young virtuoso was never more clearly demonstrated than last night when a wave of applause greeted her as she stepped before the audience. Her playing aroused much enthusiasm and she was obliged to respond to an encore.
This talented young artist, plays with a sympathetic touch that appeals to the heart, and a skill in technique which is much enjoyed by the trained musician.

The program follows:
Fugue in G Minor, Bach Intermezzo in D flat, Hollins Sonata in D Minor, Gullmant a. Introduction and Allegro.
b. Pastorale.
c. Finale.

Song, Selected.
Miss Alice Hayes, Haverhill.
Fantasie on an air, Rhode Best Benediction Nuptiale, Dubois Toccata, Dubois

Violin solo, Miss Farrell.
Pastorale in E, Lemare Sonata in A Minor, Whiting (1st movement.)

The ushers were Messrs Robert D.
Stevens, James Gilbert, Rodney Ball, George Rhoer.

HOSTS OF CHILDREN IN MAY PROCESSION.

The streets along the route of the annual May procession of the young people of St. Mary's church and missions, St. Monica's church, Methuen, St. Augustine's church, and the Immaculate Conception church were thronged Sunday long before and during the progress of the greatest and most spectacular event of the year. In almost every departure of the procession it was in excess of the beauty and magnificence which generally marks this occasion.

The weather was as perfect as could be desired for the carrying out of such an affair and thousands of spectators from surrounding cities and towns swarmed here to witness the parading little ones. The handsome costumes of the participants, the artistic arrangement of the various colors of the divers representations of the procession, and the great length of the parade and number of marching children made the pageant one of decidedly imposing character and one long to be remembered and admired. Children to the number of 2500 were in line.

The procession was in honor of the Blessed Virgin. At 3 o'clock as the first peals of the hymns were sounded from the chimes of St. Mary's church, the marching host started on the route of march, from the corner of White and Oak streets, where the formation was made.

The special feature of the pageant was the huge float at the rear end of the procession. Upon the float was the Queen of May, represented by Miss Helen Collins. The float was gorgeously trimmed with white gauze, lavishly bedecked with golden stars and strings of May flowers in gold and white. Miss Collins was upon an elevation and was attired in white and bore a golden scepter. Her maids of honor, one on either side, were Miss Eva O'Sullivan and Miss Veronica Barton. Fourteen little girls, bearing golden wreaths and dressed in white acted as attendants and knelt in front and about the sides of the float. The Knights of Our Lady of Good Counsel formed a body before and after the float. There were the armor uniform of the medieval Knights of St. John. William A. Reilly as grand knight, had charge of the body and Timothy Minihan was color bearer.

The route of procession was on Lawrence street, to Lawrence street, to Haverhill street, to Broadway, and on to St. Mary's church, where the church was filled with the marching children and as many others as the edifice would accommodate. Services were held in the church. They opened with a consecration to the Blessed Virgin by Nello Murphy. The act was said by this small girl for 250 other children, and who afterward were enrolled in the medal of the Blessed Virgin.

A brief sermon was given on the importance and meaning of the event by Fr. James T. O'Reilly, who congratulated the sisters and brothers of the parochial schools and the parents of the processionists for the fine appearance made.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament followed. Father O'Brien, officiated and was assisted by Fr. McKenna and Fr. Cullinane.

At the close of the benediction the children were dismissed and went to their respective churches. The make-up of the procession follows:

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Young Plants

Every farmer knows that some plants grow better than others. Soil may be the same and seed may seem the same but some plants are weak and others strong.

And that's the way with children. They are like young plants. Same food, same home, same care but some grow big and strong while others stay small and weak.

Scott's Emulsion offers an easy way out of the difficulty. Child weakness often means starvation, not because of lack of food, but because the food does not feed.

Scott's Emulsion really feeds and gives the child growing strength.

Whatever the cause of weakness and failure to grow—Scott's Emulsion seems to find it and set the matter right.

FOR DOUBLE TRACKS ON UNION STREET.

The Boston and Northern Street Railway, through the following petition filed with the city clerk Saturday, asks for a double track on South Union street over the new bridge, to be built over the railroad. The double track is intended to relieve congestion on the Belt and South Union streets, so-called cross with the Boston and Maine railroad, a part of the expense of which your petitioner has agreed to pay, and the fact that two of the tracks of your petitioner connect with its track in Union street, or South Union street, so called, near said crossing, i. e., at the intersection of said Union street, or South Union street, so called, with Market and Merrimack streets, makes it requisite to public convenience and necessity and to the safety of operation of the cars of your petitioner over said tracks and connections that the same be relocated and your petitioner respectfully asks that permission be granted to relocate its tracks and connections, to maintain and use tracks as follows, viz.: On South Union street, so called, midway between the Duck bridge and Merrimack street, to relocate the existing track in Union street or South Union street, so called, as far as a point therein one hundred and forty feet south of Market street, and to lay an additional track parallel therewith between said points so that such tracks shall be equidistant from the centre of the roadway and to construct a curve and track connecting the westerly track of the two above referred to with the turn-out on Merrimack street near Union street or South Union street, so called, and curves connecting both said tracks with the track of the petitioner in Market street, together with such switches, curves and cross connections as may be necessary or convenient for the operation of the cars of said company, and to erect, place, construct, use such poles, wires and other appliances as are usual and necessary in the overhead trolley system of street car propulsion; and to propel cars by such system, other said tracks with electricity as a motive power, or to use such other motive power as the laws of this Commonwealth permit, and the Board of Aldermen shall from time to time approve and to make such underground and surface alterations in the streets and highways through which this location is granted as may be necessary.

Letter to Wm. C. Odlin.

Andover, Mass.

Dear Sir: Two and two make four—not always; depends upon what "two and two" are.

Two gallons of water and two gallons of milk don't make four gallons of milk. Neither do four gallons of paint that's half line, whiting, clay and kerosene oil, make four gallons of real paint.

That's what we mean by saying "Fewer gallons; wears longer." It takes fewer gallons of Devco Lead and Zinc than of mixed paints to paint a house, and it wears twice or three times as long as lead and oil, mixed by hand.

Prowse & Pelton, Herkimer, N. Y., write:
"Mr. Chas. Avery, of Herkimer, bought 51 gallons of Devco Lead and Zinc to paint his five houses, his painter having figured that it would require at least that amount; 38 gallons did the work and he returned 15 gallons."

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & CO.,

Obituary

The remains of the late Mrs. Sarah Ann Milner, who passed away on Monday, June 2nd, at the family home, 91 Maple avenue, after a long illness, was tenderly laid at rest in the family lot in Ridgewood cemetery on Wednesday afternoon. Services of prayer for the members of the family and friends were held at the home at 2 o'clock. At 3 o'clock a large number of sorrowing neighbors and friends of the deceased and family gathered in the St. Paul's church to which edifice the body was borne. Rev. H. Usher Monroe, rector of that church, conducted the service. William D. Rundlett, in a very touching manner rendered two soprano solos. They were "Lead Kindly Light" and "O, Paradise." Committal services were conducted at the grave.

The remains were placed in a casket of black broadcloth with silver trimmings. The plate was inscribed: SARAH ANN MILNER, 1838-1903.

A profusion of elegant flowers surrounded the casket. The floral piece received from the neighbors was particularly very pretty. These tokens of respect and esteem were thoroughly in touch with the expressions of sympathy voiced by many. Out of town friends and relatives were present from Arlington and Worcester.

The bearers were Clarence W. Reynolds, T. P. Wentworth, Chester R. Stacey and William Wilkinson, of Lawrence.

The death of Mrs. Sarah Ann Milner occurred on Monday afternoon at about 3 o'clock at her home at 91 Maple avenue, North Andover. Her demise came after a protracted illness of about a year and a half. She will be greatly missed from her home and the community. In both she was greatly loved and respected by all. Her age was 64 years, 7 months and 15 days.

The funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from St. Paul's Episcopal church. Previous to this service prayers will be said at the home for the family and immediate friends by the Rev. H. Usher Monroe, rector of St. Paul's. The burial will be made in the family lot at Ridgewood cemetery.

The deceased was born in Halifax, England, on October 10th, 1838. She was the daughter of William and Harriet Smith and passed her childhood in her native land. In the year 1853 she came to this country and settled in North Andover, where she had lived for the last 30 years, up to the time of her death.

She was united in marriage to the late Thomas Milner, whose death preceded hers by six years. She was a member of the St. Paul's Episcopal church of many years, being a regular attendant up to the time of her last illness.

She leaves two brothers, Samuel and James H. Smith, both of West Hill, N. H. There are also five children. Maud, instructor of drawing in the North Andover public schools, Percy of Worcester, Thomas, Sara and Margaret of that town, and one grandchild, Muriel.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS MET.

A meeting of teachers of the Congregational Sunday school was held on Friday evening with the superintendent Mr. D. W. Carney, at his residence on Middlesex street. In these outfits was placed every little thing that a sailor might need while away on a voyage. In each outfit was placed a bible with a kindly letter to the receiver. It has been some two months since this kindly work was started and the successful termination was a pleasure to all.

The teachers also talked over in an informal way the matters concerning the Sunday school and the classes. During the evening a course of light refreshment was served by Mr. and Mrs. Carney.

MERCURY'S WIN.

The Mercurys, a strong Lawrence baseball team were successful in being able to defeat the team from the Johnson high school by a score of 15 to 9. The game was played on the Tavern lot on Tuesday afternoon. The contest was witnessed by quite a large crowd, supporters of either one or the other team. The game was close at times and the score was tied twice but towards the last the High school team lost courage and did not play their usual good ball. The lineup of the Johnson High school team was: Curley, c. Tilton p. Halliwell and Badger 1b, Carney 2b, Wrigley ss, Capt. Kelley 3b, Hamlin lf, Kirk cf, Houghton rf. Salem Sand and Graveyards.

If you want to take a trip to brag about, make the circuit of Cobbett and Canobie Lakes in Salem and Windham, N. H., as two of us did last Saturday. I had occasion to visit a graveyard on Windham line, supposed to be inhabited by Campbell ghosts. The boys of Salem all backed out, because they had Saturday work and games, but ostensibly on account of a timidity felt about accompanying strange ladies to inspect graveyards, even for hard cash. So the good town clerk had promised to get a team, and drive us over from "Point A," where the electric dropped us at 9:30. Unfortunately, five special policemen were needed at the park, and had to be sworn by Mr. Ayer as a J. P., so he failed to meet us, and after getting a fair idea of the two mile trip, "houses all the way" and "not lonesome, perfectly safe" we started. A companion, a volunteer, for change of air, whom we will call C., was equipped properly, save for the easiest pair of shoes in stock, which happened to be low cut. Lunch we took along and started for the two mile journey with light hearts. Calls upon the two farms that lay between Mr. Ayer's house and the first yard, and renewed assurances that after we left that spot, we should find a good road over Spear Hill to the next one, completing the two mile trip, sent us over one of Salem's characteristic highways with cackles of joy, that must have aroused the Campbell who lay slumped on the route. At the first stop, after the parade along the mended highway of sand, with a turf gallery through the middle that the restive steeds of Salem claved hold of, in progress, but which gave a pedestrian a sort of rope walk tread, we emptied out the sand, and ate a preliminary lunch, where a few modern Scotchmen had fenced in a pretty square covered with moss pink. Then with Spear Hill and a fine, rocky, steep and clean road, we wound westward from Canobie of which we could not catch a glimpse, towards Cobbett's, a beautiful pond, over a mile westward and of as large extent I should say—on the banks of which lay the other yard, the second one on the hill over looking the Lake. "Houses all the way" proved a local myth. We passed no house nor saw a soul till we came to the Pond and the high outlook of the cemetery beautifully kept. Only birds and butterflies the whole delightful way. Then began sand again. The second yard proved a great plantation of Scotch Presbyterians, but alas! the Campbell did not come! One small modern yellow house, and a beautiful old style farm house lay across the hollow, quarter of a mile away. The one near the yard was closed, and the folks of somewhere for the day. We had the world to ourselves apparently with Monadnock in sight, and the gem of a pond lay at our feet and the wind from a cloudless, perfect sky, clapping our cheeks and lips. We slipped and slid up to the old farm house and found the good young master could not be spared to carry us two miles straight east between the two ponds to Canobie Lake Station, as he had hired men engaged for the day, and help is scarce up there. We inspected his goings, and watched the view from this historic site. The house near the old Senter place, on Windham Range, built about 1750, I should judge by the grandson of the original Londonderry pioneer and where Ben Franklin Senter died. His wife was Elizabeth Hopkins, daughter of Elizabeth Anderson, a wayback aunt of

GEORGE SAUNDERS,

MAIN ST., Tel. 28-5

Mr. Haynes of Ballardvale, who came back from the wilds of Maine to join her kindred in Windham. The son George Senter, moved away in 1861.

The young man who owns it today married one of the old Simpson family. It was too strong a wind to row against over Cobbett's to reach the third yard, which he told us was full of Campbells. C. had noticed that a party buried 60 years ago was drowned in Cobbett. He told us it was the minister and some young people crossing for church, and the only people drowned in 60 years. I did not wonder at that. People were too few and not much chance for the pond to get any work again. Our hearts were fired with new courage: stiff muscles and sand were forgotten and such an atmosphere would never come again. We walked back more than a mile around Cobbett's to the West and met our first inhabitant on the road, an old party with a refined, sweet-voiced and "the worst outfit I ever saw in the way of a team. He drew a diagram of the yard and the exact spot where the Campbells of antiquity lay, and the way to get it through a pasture, and advised us to go back to Windham, North side of Cobbett's and get home that way, as there were more settlements and chances for a free ride or to get a hired team. The Campbells proved a success and after scraping away moss and chalking the depts, we bore away proof of many things needed for history. A poor lonely woman in a small house, surrounded with farm buildings on another estate, marked "for sale," stretched herself at the window as we swung along to the first cross road, leaving Cobbett's for Windham post office. I had left my map at home, but had a hazy idea that we had undertaken more "than we could bite off." It was 2 o'clock when a man, young and obliging, who had been to Pelham to mend a slot machine he controlled, came in sight with a fine horse and a pet dog tucked on the narrow seat of the little go-cart, just large enough for two. He pitied us and said he would take us along to Windham Junction on his way home to Derry, if we did not mind riding "huddled." We were so demoralized with the sand and the size of the miles, also having forgotten to eat lunch, that we gladly packed in somehow, with the "boosted" little dog's eloquent eye upturned at our feet. The young gentleman (Irish of course, without a particle of Scotch) concluded, as C. had never seen Canobie, to go to Canobie station with us, and make his way back to Derry. The road was new to him and his horse. We came to Cobbett's again at the East end after a lovely (slow) drive past lupins and meadows and substantial farms to a cross road within 3/4 of a mile of Canobie. There we resumed the tramp, our kind neighbor of Derry, six miles out of his way, accepting a smaller sum than we expected to pay at Salem for our team. We found it hard to spend that dollar in N. H. The three matrons at the homes we called at and the two men we spoke to in N. H., were glad to see us and wished we would stay longer, and we wanted to go again sometime with a party who can walk. Our lunch was taken at the old Canobie ground which is being spruced up to begin work May 30. A wait at the station of nearly two hours was not to be considered and we strolled down the railroad 1-2 miles, which was the only sidewalk found in N. H. and a charming walk it was. The electric picked us up at Salem Depot, carried us back to Point A, where we walked in, and we reached Lawrence to finish with the errands the home people expected us to deliver at noon. Seven o'clock found us surrounding the weekly baked beans triumphant, with only the regret that the eloquent author of the essay on "Deserted Farms" had missed that tramp around the ponds. Years to come, when, equipped with electric, Cobbett's will become an ideal summer residence we can recall the lonesome tramp with pride. C. H. A.

A Fair Offer Made by E. M. & W. A. Allen to all Sufferers From Catarrh

E. M. & W. A. Allen are selling Hyomei on a plan that has caused considerable talk amongst their customers. The plan is different from that followed by other remedies, but the remedy itself is different also. This treatment for the cure of catarrh has such an unusual record of cures to its credit that E. M. & W. A. Allen offer to refund the money if it does not give the desired benefit. This is certainly one of the fairest offers that can be made, and any one who has catarrh and does not take advantage of it is doing himself or herself an injustice.

The Hyomei treatment consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The complete treatment costs but $1.00 and as the inhaler will last a lifetime and there is sufficient Hyomei for more than a month's use, the medicine is very inexpensive. Many people who have used it write that for the good Hyomei has done them they would willingly pay thousands of dollars.

Extra bottles of Hyomei can be procured for use with the inhaler at 20c. Do not suffer any longer with tickling, smarting, irritating, burning, eye-watering troubles that afflict those who have catarrh. Hyomei will cure you, but if you should not find it adapted to your case, E. M. & W. A. Allen will return your money.
